FOUND DEAD IN LOCKUP

Shortly After Arrest Man By Name Of Evans Discoverd In Cell In a Lifeless Condition---Letter On Body Charging Wife With Infidelity.

HAPPENS AT MONONGAHELA

A man by the name of Jim Evans was found dead at the lockup, Monongahela, this morning shortly after he had been arrested for disorderly conduct. He was 45 years of age and his home was in Huzelwood. The physicians give as the cause of his death, heart disease, although it is plain that if this is so, nature only beat out by a few hours, as a letter on the man told that he intended to commit suicide. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Harry Scurfield and this afternoon shipped to Pittsburg.

Sometime ago Mr. Evans and his wife parted, she living at Cokeburg ever since. It is stated that he has at different times tried to secure their little son which she had, but was unsuccessful. He had been in Monongahela a few days, drinking and carousing, and this morning was at the station when the M. and W. train from Cokeburg came in. His wife was said to be on the train and when she saw him took the train to Pittsburg, she was going to spend the night with her at once, and took the boy. She refused his offer and there were some words. Evans then went to Chief of Police Chester and asked for the arrest of the man, and he did so. A short time later he was found dead in the lockup.

A letter was found attached to the man's wrist by a gum band, and when it was read it was found that the man intended to commit suicide. It stated that the wife was the cause of all his troubles and at the present time was living with a man by the name of Russel in Cokeburg.

YESTERDAY BUSY ONE IN COURT

Yesterday was the busiest day of the week in Judge McIlvaine's court. Surety of the peace cases were heard during the entire day and in addition there were pleas of guilty entered and sentences pronounced. The grand jury heard a large number of cases during the day, two or three being of considerable importance. There are a large number of cases yet to be placed before the grand jury and it will have to be present the greater part of next week.

A case that attracted considerable attention in court yesterday afternoon was that of the commonwealth against Charles Moffit, of Fredericktown, charged with surety of the peace. The private prosecutrix was his 16-year-old daughter, Edith Moffit. The case is one of several troubles that have arisen since the defendant and his wife were divorced. The mother and father of the prosecutrix have been before the court before to have ddifferences settled.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HERE IS BEST OF KIND IN COUNTRY

Company No. 1 of the Charleroi volunteer fire department was out last night for practice with the combination chemical and hose wagon, it being taken to McKean avenue between Seventt and Eight streets, where a bonfire was built and the wagon tested. The practice was held for the purpose of instructing the firemen in the use of the chemicals and assigning them to their different places. Next week companies No. 1 and 2 will go out and work in conjunction. The latter named company has charge of the hook and ladder wagon. On both of these wagons there are fifteen men placed.

Within a few days the local company will be in the finest of condition for the fighting of fires either here or elsewhere, should they be called out of town. They have interchangeable hose connections for the five nearest towns, Monongahela, Monessen, Donora, Belle Vernon and Fayette City and are able to render efficient service in case of a bad fire in any of these places. The stable on the first floor of the borough building, to which there has recently been put an annex, will soon be in condition for occupancy and the new harness for the horses for the chemical wagon will be hung as well as toose for the Hook and ladder wagon.

Chief Fleming of the local company is well pleased over the interest that is being shown, and stated this morning that in a few days when everything is in shape, Charleroi will have the best volunteer company in the entire country, excepting none, and is of the opinion that it will surpass many of the paid companies in larger towns and cities. "We will be well organized, in a short time in a working way," he said, "and have a large membership consisting solely of good men, who are willing in case of fire to respond at a moments notice." He feels that Charleroi should be proud of her company and for his gratification and the firemen themselves we will say that she is.

CLOSE SALE OF STORE AT MONONGAHELA

A deal which has been pending for the Corrin and Corrin grocery store at Monongahela, was closed a few days ago, and on the 16th of this month, the new proprietor, John E. Knight of Fayette City, will take charge. He will continue the present location for a short time, and some time before the first of the year will move to the new Markell building, where he will continue the business.

Mr. James Corrin, who has been the active manager of the company since its organization, has no plans for the immediate future, and will take a long vacation.

Mr. Knight will move with his wife and two children to Monongahela and will occupy the A. D. Scot house on Coal street.

CELEBRATION OF VICTORY AT BELLEVERNON

Citizens Of That And Other Towns To Join Tonight In Extoling Candidates Who Were Successful In Three Counties, Hon. J. K. Tener Being Among Number.

PARADE WILL BE A MAIN FEATURE

Belle Vernon, Nov. 7.—A demonstration to celebrate the election of Taft, Tener, Huff, Cooper and the entire Republican ticket in the three counties will be held at Belle Vernon tonight. The Republicans of Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon, Pricedale, Fairhope, Speers and Charleroi and the immediate vicinity will participate. A parade, with lots of red fire and all the other trimmings, will be the main feature.

Citizens generally will decorate and illuminate their homes and places of business, and nearly every man and boy nreabouts is expected to be in line. Four bands have been engaged, and there will be almost enough noise to be heard at Washington. In this the ever present small boy and his tin horn will have a prominent part.

Saturday night was chosen as the best time to celebrate the great victory because it will be possible for more men to be in line. Many are expected to come from the surrounding towns to help swell the crowd, and it promises to be the biggest time the old town has seen for a long time. All arrangements have not been completed, but the committee in charge will have everything ready in plenty of time.

Charles F. McKay will be chief marshall of the parade, to whom delegates should apply for a place in the line.

PLEAD GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ENTERING STORE.

Mike Miller and Mike Brody were arraigned before Judge J. A. McIlvaine at Washington, charged with felonious breaking and entry, in the store room of William McGregor, at Monongahela, on November 3. Miller was also charged with carrying concealed weapons. Both entered pleas of guilty and were committed to Huntingdon.

200 ALL-STEEL MINE CARS ARE ORDERED

An order for 200 all-steel mine cars, the first of the kind ever awarded, was given to the Standard Steel Car company of Pittsburg yesterday by the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company. The new mine cars will be built at the Butler plan and will be turned over to the coal company as soon as possible.

The awarding of this contract is the result of experiments which have been going on for the past year or so in various mines of the river coal company. These tests have proved that the all-steel mine car is in every way superior to the wooden car in general use and means that wooden cars will soon be a thing of the past. While a number of the larger coal companies have been experimenting with steel mine cars for the past several months, this is the first order for equipment of this kind for practical use.

Although more expensive than the wooden cars, the life of the all-steel car is more than double that of the wooden car and it is expected that by using the new equipment the production of the local mines will be greatly increased.

LENHART IS BADLY INJURED

Arm Caught In Machinery At Cracker Factory In Brownsville Yesterday And He May Lose Member---His Trial Was To Have Come Up Monday.

POSTPONEMENT NOW IN ORDER

Meeting with a fate similar to that suffered by his father 30 years ago, W. L. Lenhart, manager of the George W. Lenhart Cracker company, at Brownsville, will probably lose his left arm as the result of having it caught in the brak s of one of the machines used in mixing dough. The bone was badly crushed nearly to the shoulder. Dr. Swope, of Pittsburg, was rushed to this place last evening. It is not yet known whether the member will be amputated or not. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Mr. Lenhart was busy in the factory and while pushing some dough into one machine his hand was caught. No one was nearby to throw the belt off and his arm was drawn through the rolls before the factory hands could get the machiery stopped. Drs. Lilley and Richards were at once summoned and the injuries were dressed. The physicians feared that the arm would have to be amputated and Dr. Swope, the specialist, was sent for.

George W. Lenhart, the father of W. L. Lenhart, and the owner of the cracker mill, was injured over 30 years ago exactly in the same manner as his son was yesterday. The senior Lenhart suffered the loss of his right arm in the accident.

It is not known what effect this will have on the case of Mr. Lenhart in the matter of the People's Bank, of California, which was scheduled to come before the courts at Washington on Monday, November 16. It is likely that the case will be pesptoned however.

After Dr. Swope arrived last evening he stated that he had one chance in a thousand to save the arm. He added that he would not operate until today in any event. If the operation is necessary Mr. Lenhart will be removed to the West Penn hospital, Pittsburg. Dr. Swope stated that the arteries were entirely destroyed and if the arm is saved the circulation will be destroyed and the arm will be stiff and useless. The bones in the forearm were all crushed and broken into several pieces. The skin of the forearm was nearly all torn off.

Mr. Lenhart is in a serious condition today as the result of the injury.

OPENING BILL AT COYLE THEATRE

For the opening bill at the Coyle theatre next Tuesday night, November 10, Manager R. S. Coyle has secured a strong bill. This is "The Power of the Cross," which is its first season outside of the large cities, and it is supported by an exceptionally strong company. The play, unlike the title, is not a religious play, but a sensational romantic story of the present day. The situations, dialogue and climaxes are startling. The theme and story is most interesting and Manger R. S. Coyle having secured the producton through the New York agents, is a guarantee, and can safely recommend to the theatre goers of Charleroi and vicinity

OFFICIALS INSPECT WORK ON RIVER

Major Henry C. Newcomer, Colonel T. P. Roberts and others of the local office of the United States engineer, went up the Monongahela river as far as Ft. Marion yesterday, inspecting the work. The Monongahela is said to be in fine condition, the locks and dams that needed repairs having been given attention during the past summer.

Business on the Monongahela is quiet now because the mine depend for empties on returns from Southern ports and from local manufacturing industries and from neither of these sources have empties been returned recently.

Concerning Church Announcements.

The Mail desires the pastors of the different courches hereafter to send their notices for the Sunday services to this office not later than ten o'clock on the morning of publication. We depend entirely upon the ministers to furnish us with their announcements and if they do not they will not appear.

MONESSEN TURNERS TO BUILD NEW HOME

The Monessen Turn Verein society has broken ground for a new $28,000 home. The contract price is a trifle less, but the building when completed will cost about that amount. The building will be three stories in height and will occupy two lots each 22x100, at Donner avenue and Second street. It will front 44 feet on Donner avenue.

The George Hogg Co., of Braddock, has the contract, and Dean and Stubble, of Pittsburg, were the architects. The lower floor will be given over to club rooms and the second to the hall and gym. The building will be of a handsome dark brick. The building is to be done by April when it will be ceremoniously dedicated.

SEVERAL FIRES IN VICINITY

Forests Burn In Different Places Along River, Fiercest One Being In Forward Township, Allegheny County, Opposite Monongahela---Much Damage Is Done.

CONFLAGRATION NEAR ELDORA

Forest fires are now raging in this vicinity, perhaps the most destructive one being in Forward township, Allegheny county, opposite Monongahela. There is one burning near Eldora, on the property of The Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke company, which a number of workers are trying to extinguish. Last night there was a small fire across the river from here a short distance south of Webster, which the residents of Charleroi could see plainly and which attracted considerable attention. It was of little consequence however and did little damage although it is said that one of the coal mines was in danger for a time.

The fire across the river from Monongahela covers a considerable area, and for a time last night the mining village of Elkhorn was in danger. The fire started from sparks from a P. and L. E. engine and was first noticed at between four and five o'clock. The most damage done by it thus far is the burning of some hay on the farm of Mr. Pierce, entailing a loss of perhaps $300.

The fire near Eldora also covers a considerable area, but the damage will be slight. It started from a spark from an engine on the P. R. R. and has been raging since Thursday. The residents of the neighborhood have been fighting the fire, but as yet have not succeeded in controlling it. The progress of the flames must stop however when they reach the street car tracks.

Miss Laura Brown of Crest avenue left this morning for Cleveland, Ohio, where she will visit friends for several days.

SOCIAL EVENTS OF CHARLEROI

Miss Myrtle Majors entertained a number of friends at her home on Fallowfield avenue last night. The time was pleasantly spent with games and music, and all present had a delightful time. The hostess served a nice lunch.

A reception was given last evening in St. Mary's Episcopal church for the new pastor, Rev. L. W. Shey. Rev. Shey is the late assistant rector of the Trinity church, Pittsburg, and appeared here for the first time last Sunday. The members of the church were well pleased with his work from the first and arranged a reception for he and his wife last night There were a large number present and the new rector and his wife were made to feel that they were indeed welcome to this place. The evening was pleasantly spent with the usual social diversions.

The Mercantile Tax.

The majority of the merchants of Charleroi evidently do not care much whether the mercantile tax, which it has been claimed is so burdensome in this state, be repealed or not. The other night, Thursday, the Merchants association here were to have held a meeting at which time the repeal of the tax was to be discussed by a Pittsburg man and one which is well up on the matter, yet there were not enough merchants present to make a quorum, and the meeting could not be called to order or the matter taken up. The repeal of the mercantile tax is now being eagerly sought for by the merchants of this state as it is claimed that it is very burdensome and an injustice. In many places there has been steps taken by the merchants who have organized themselves and constructed petitions to be presented at the next session of the legislature to have it removed. The petition will doubtless receive attention. The Pittsburg Leader is staunchly defending the merchants of the state in their fight against this alleged burdensome tax and give points why it should be removed. The following is a clipping from an article published in that paper a few days ago regarding the matter:

"An instance of the injustice of this mercantile tax lies in the fact that incorporated firms are compelled to pay a double tax. In addition to the mercantile tax, paid to provide jobs for politicians and "pork" for newspapers, they must also pay to the state a corporation tax, and all agree that this is unjust. Manufacturers are exempted from the mercantile tax if they sell only the goods manufactured on their own premises. But should they open an office for the sale of their product, they must also pay the mercantile tax. Representatives of business houses outside of the state can travel through Pennsylvania all the year, selling thousands of dollars' worth of goods, and pay no tax of any kind, while home merchants are burdened with tax for the privilege of selling similar goods.

"The mercantile appraisers throughout the state, and their friends, are beginning to fear the repeal movement, and are lining up the politicians and candidates for the legislature to defeat the repeal if possible. But this action has in a measure been forestalled by the Business men's association, of Pennsylvania, which has received pledges of support from 271 candidates of parties for the repealer, and is still working on others. But at the same time President Limeburner, of the Business association, says it behooves all merchants and business men interested to be active and keep after the candidates, so as to forestall any possible change of heart by reason of promises of support from the interested mercantile appraisers."

More than 400 organizations of business men throughout the state have indorsed the repeal movement, and arrangements are being made to have a representative of each present to urge the repeal before the legislature when it is brought up at the coming session. The Business association will open headquarters at Harrisburg January 1, which will be the headquarters also of local organizations.

Scrappin' Brothers?

The Monongahela Times and Monessen Independent are now having a great fuss because both of them want to claim the victory for their respective towns in an unimportant football contest at Monongahela recently. Both of these esteemed contemporaries have said things that are real mean of each other and they have got so far as to make the account of what the other said of them the previous day, the principal article. The quarrel seems to be a sort of continued-tomorrow affair. The best that can be said of the war is that the newspapers in question at least have something with which to fill up.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Weeds That Sheep Eat.

The Minnesota station gives the analyses of weeds which sheep eat avidly and their protein contents compared with alfalfa, clover and timothy hay. It will be a surprise to many to see how high in protein these weeds are, and it suggests the reason sheep flourish on them, worthless as they are otherwise. Here are the analyses: Lambs' quarters, 25.06 protein, 54.61 carbohydrates, 1.96 fat; purslane, 26.13 protein, 53.70 carbohydrates, 2.9 fat; pigweed, 26.54 protein, 62.86 carbohydrates, 1.36 fat; dandelion, 21.04 protein, 38.95 carbohydrates, 2.79 fat; cutulp, 22.25 protein, 63.07 carbohydrates, 2.66 fat; goldenrod, 11.62 protein, 70.62 carbohydrates, 4.85 fat; mustard, 15.75 protein, 75.50 carbohydrates, 1.55 fat; quack grass, 11.27 protein, 79.12 carbohydrates, 1.96 fat; alfalfa, 20 protein, 40.64 carbohydrates, 2.16 fat, clover, 13.35 protein, 52.28 carbohydrates, 3.65 fat; timothy hay, 8.75 protein, 41.76 carbohydrates, 2.16 fat.

Soiling Crops.

A mixture of Kaffir corn and cow peas at the Pennsylvania station produced the largest yield of green substance per acre, was relished by the cows and was entirely satisfactory from the standpoint of milk production. Alfalfa produced the largest yield of air dry substance per acre, and the cows seemed to hold up better in milk production when on alfalfa than on any other crops tested. Oats and peas proved satisfactory as a soiling crop. Rye produced the earliest soiling crop and gave a large yield of dry substance per acre, but under average conditions it ripens too quickly to be most satisfactory. The different forage crops tested seemed to have little, if any, effect upon the composition of the milk.—American Cultivator.

Plans For New Dairy Barns.

For the past two or three years the dairy division of the department of agriculture has been making an investigation of all the principal dairy barns in the United States and a study of the best methods of construction, with reference to convenience, cheapness in feeding and hauling of stock, sanitation, etc. The result is that the division has a large number of plans suitable for building barns and stables of varying costs, so that any one contemplating building a barn can obtain, by simply corresponding with the chief of the division, a set of building plans which will probably just about meet his needs.

Horse Sense.

Turning the work teams out to pasture at night is better than keeping them shut up in a close, poorly ventilated stable.

Every farmer must have horses. Why not have the best, then, and make a nice little profit on the side from the colts?

The time to sell the colt is when a good price is offered. It's good policy to have him ready to attract the good price, though.

Begin to handle the little fellow when he is very young if you would keep him from getting wild. Be judicious about it, though, at all times.

Hog Notes.

The hog with large bones is rapidly growing in favor.

Very frequently the feeding amounts to more than the pedigree.

Dipping hogs is no longer a tedious job. The modern tank simplifies it.

An average litter of seven or eight pigs will be pretty nearly sure profit.

A good way to save high priced corn is to provide good alfalfa pasture.

The man who never has dipped his hogs is the man who objects to it most.

A good boar will do a great deal to put the hog end of your farming upon solid footing.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

A BRIER PIPE.

Get One That Is Smooth Inside the Bowl, Says a Smoker.

A collegian who prides himself on the sweetness and color of his brier wood pipes and pretends to know a lot more about them than any ordinary smoker spent half an hour in a tobacco shop making an addition to his already large collection.

Some pipes he discarded because of the grain in the wood. There was too much stripe or too much birdseye, he remarked. When he found one which suited him he put it aside until he had gathered three or four which apparently were all right, and then came his final test to pick out the best of them all.

He held each with the bowl toward the light, then slowly rubbed his little finger inside. Two he discarded, then repeated the operation with the others until only one remained out of the discard. That one he bought.

"Want 'em smooth inside," he explained. "A brier pipe roughly finished inside the bowl isn't worth bothering with. I wouldn't take one for a gift; wouldn't take the trouble to try to break it in, for it will never be any good. It won't cake up right, and it'll never be nice and sweet.

"I've got a theory that when the inside of the bowl is rough all the little edges and points of wood char and burn the first time you smoke it, and a burnt pipe is no good. That's why I always take a pipe that has a bowl as smooth on the inside as on the out.

"Then it doesn't char, but cakes up evenly and goes good in a little time. Maybe the theory is wrong, but it has worked out well in my own experience, and some of my friends who have tried it agree with me."—New York Sun.

Gas Industry of the Pesky Ant.

Out in Burma and the far east, where sandalwood is worth its weight in silver, the pestiferous ant is a valuable assistant to the loggers of that precious timber. The oily and fragrant heartwood alone has value, but as the tree grows this valuable heart is overlaid by a soft and worthless layer forming two-thirds of the trunk. When a tree is felled and cut into lengths the loggers let the timber lie. At once the ants begin work upon the soft wood which is sappy and sweet enough to attract them. In a few weeks, less than a month in the case of the large units, the ants deliver the heartwood free of all the worthless sapwood.

Explaining.

"Aha, Mose! What are you doing with those chickens?"

"Is dem yo' chickens, boss?"

"You got them out of my coop."

"What kinda chickens is dey, boss?"

"They are Rhode Island Reds. What are you doing with them?"

"Why, boss, I done bought some Rhode Island Reds f'm a man yestiddy, an' I come ovah to git some o' yo' ol's chickens to see ef mine was lak yo' ol's. Ah doesn't lak tu git cheated, boss."—Houston Post.

Then He Got His.

A young Lancashire lad joined the army and soon after his arrival at headquarters got into trouble. Accordingly he had to face his commanding officer next morning.

The usual preliminaries were gone through, when, contrary to orderly room etiquette, the recruit commenced to defend himself.

"Silence!" roared the adjutant.

"Thou shut up," said the prisoner. "I'm not speaking to thee. I'm talking to the old chap in the chair."—London Scraps.

In the course of a few years the body attains its full growth, but the heart may grow forever. It is a pity that so few hearts enjoy the privilege.—Albany (Ore.) News.

HUNTING WILD HORSES.

How Brumbies in New South Wales Are Trapped and Broken.

Hunting "brumbies," as the wild horses are called there, is a favorite sport in New South Wales. Districts like the Clarence and Stephens and Manning river watershed are still the home of numerous droves of brumbies, and hunting them is declared to be a very exhilarating pastime. The first step taken is to stake out a corral and make all secure except a narrow entrance, which can subsequently be gated. On either side of the entrance and projecting from it funnelwise a "booby fence" is prepared.

To the simple minded brumby it presumably looks like a stockade, and pieces of fluttering cotton make it look impregnable. When this is ready, the young bloods, well mounted, gallop out and round up the wild horses, driving them with shouts and much loud snapping of stock whips toward the mouth of the funnel.

In a group of brumbies there is always a leader, and when once the hunters have got the leader heading for the corral they are pretty certain of the rest of the drove. The fluttering cotton rags of the sham fence are sufficient to deter the brumbies from breaking through the flimsy barriers and in less time than it takes to tell the wild horses are safely corralled and the big gate shut on them.

Then they are left for four and twenty hours without food and water to reflect on the situation, and after that they can be broken in without much difficulty.—London Standard.

Why He Called.

"You advertised that you had found a pocketbook, I believe?" he asked the man who had come to the door in answer to his ring.

"I did."

"You say it contained a sum of money?"

"Yes."

"A very large sum of money, in fact?"

"Yes."

"And that the owner could have the same by naming the sum found and describing the pocketbook?"

"Yes. Go on."

"That is all I wished to ask."

"But you will have to give a description of the purse you lost before you can put in a claim."

"I lost no purse."

"You didn't?"

"No, sir."

"Then why have you called?"

"Merely to see what a man looks like who will find a very large sum of money and then advertise the fact in the papers instead of hiding it down cellar. Good day, sir."—Judge's Library.

A Critic's Evasion.

It is risky to give one's honest opinion about a man's horse or dog, a house designed by himself or a picture which he values highly. He who gives the opinion stands on a slippery place, and should the judgment be unfavorable he will slide far from the man's esteem.

Fuseli the eccentric artist and professor of the Royal academy was invited by a nobleman to see a painting of which he was the proud owner. Fuseli went, taking a pupil with him. The painting was shown by the nobleman himself. The artist examined it and exclaimed, "Extraordinary!" The nobleman, greatly pleased at the ejaculation, lauded the picture to the skies, pointed out its beauties, and Fuseli cried: "Extraordinary! Extraordinary!"

On their way home the pupil said: "Mr. Fuseli, I don't think much of that picture. What did you mean by 'extraordinary?'"

"Extraordinarily bad," was the reply of the artist, who had not cared to offend a lord who might become a patron.

Nutrition

If you do not gain strength and energy from your food you should drink Charleroi Brewery Ale regularly—at mealtime.

Charleroi Brewery Ale is a pure "undoctored" and unsweetened malt product. All of its virtues come straight from the malted field-barley and selected Bohemian hops.

It does not digest food, but it healthfully tones the stomach, aiding digestion, and contains easily digested food properties of its own.

Good physicians will commend its moderate use. We guarantee Charleroi Brewery Ale to be of absolute purity.

INSPECTOR LOUTTIT HAS TO RIDE IN A WHEELBARROW

Monongahela, Pa., Nov. 7.—State Mine Inspector Henry Louttit, of the fifth district, hero of many mine disasters, was visibly agitated yesterday in the presence of 1,000 persons after being spilled three times from a wheelbarrow pushed by Mrs. Elizabeth Spence Coatsworth

The crowd made him get back again each time and finish the ride. It all resulted from an election bet, which provided that the victor should be pushed over the principal streets to the music of a band. Mrs. Coatsworth was game.

School Will Open.

Brownsville, Nov. 7.—The South Brownsville public schools so far as the board can see, will open Monday, November 16, in the new building. The work of getting the place in urable condition is being pushed with all possible speed and the rooms are now beginning to take on a nice appearance.

Canonsburg, Nov. 7.—The funeral service of Miss Charlotte A. Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips of North Jefferson avenue, who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Guiser, of Coal Center, on Monday evening, were held in the First Presbyterian church, of which congregation Miss Phillips was a member, on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains were brought from Coal Center to Canonsburg on Wednesday; and on Wednesday evening and Thursday up until the hour of removing the body to the church there was an almost constant stream of callers at the Phillips home.

THE GRAMPUS GOURMET.

This Marine Monster's Prey Is the Bowhead Whale.

"Of all the gourmets on land or water," said the captain, "commend me to the grampus."

The ladies at the captain's table looked with inquiring smiles at the handsome sailor.

"The grampus," he went on, "is a kind of overgrown shark or a kind of undersized fighting whale. You can take your choice. At any rate, he is a terrible creature to meet with if you happen to be aquatic.

"He and his mate travel together. Sometimes they have a friend along—big, fine, strong chap, as such friends usually are. And their game is the bowhead whale.

"When they find a whale they go at him. They stick to him inveterately. They punch and thump till he is as limp as a rope of seaweed with exhaustion, and then, instead of one horrible deed, they show their unexampled gluttony.

"They take hold of the whale's lower lip; they hang their weight on it until it drops open. Then in go their heads, disappearing inside that great red mouth, that warm, moist cavern of scarlet, and they eat in there the whale's tongue, a tender tidbit, very rich and delicate.

"The tongue consumed, they go on their way again, leaving the whale to die slowly."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLING SUM OF MONEY

Canonsburg, Nov. 7.—Accused of embezzling funds of the Western Pennsylvania Humane society, by which organization he had been employed as an agent in Washington county, Frank D. Roberts of Washington was brought from that place to Canonsburg Friday afternoon and taken before Justice T M Reese to answer to the charge which had been brought against him. Robert was arrested at his home in Washington Monday evening by Constable J. J. Miller of Canonsburg, information having been made against the accused man before Justice T. M. Reese by James S. Bell of Pittsburg, superintendent of the humane society. When arrested Roberts was unable to furnish bail and was lodged in jail to await a hearing before Justice Reese Friday.

Nubar Pasha and the Pipes.

Soon after the occupation of Cairo by the British troops the late Nubar Pasha took a prodigious fancy to the music of the Black Watch and had the idea of having a servant taught the use of the bagpipes. Nubar dispatched a French friend, who spoke English very well, to interview a piper on the subject

Donald replied, "Weel, he micht learn or he micht no' Bit, let me tell ye, it needs wind an' mickle strength tae fill the bags o' the pipes an' keep blawin' Sae if yin o' thae Egyptian chaps took the job on he'd need tae be bandaged a' ow're like yin o' thae auld mummies, or maybe he'd burst himself."

This conversation was reported to Nubar, who took the piper's remarks seriously So he gave up the idea of having a skirler attached to his household, as the use of the bagpipes was attended with the prospect of such danger to the performer.—Westminster Gazette.

Depth of Cyclones.

From the study of clouds an official of the United States weather bureau concludes that ordinary cyclones which traverse our country from west to east are not more than two or three miles in depth, although their diameter is many hundreds of miles In other words, their motion does not affect the upper regions of the atmosphere. In the case of hurricanes this authority finds that the depth is greater, amounting to as much as five or six miles But higher currents blow directly across the cyclonic and anticyclonic areas which produce storms and fair weather at the surface of the earth.—Chicago Inter Ocean

Easy Money.

Theodore Hook was one of the Garrick club's most famous members He generally arrived at the club late in the afternoon and "never went home till morning." He had been told by the doctors, he said, to avoid the night air A member of the club in Hook's time predicted the advent of the millennium at the end of three years. "All right," cried Hook "Give me a five pound note now, and I will repay you £50 at the millennium."

"British Unfairness."

One American who got back from the Olympic games recently was with Hayes, the Marathon winner, in a party of Americans the evening following the race. On the subject of "British unfairness" he tells a story Hayes told that night.

"I was just entering the stadium," said Hayes, "and I slowed to a walk, thinking it was all over and I had lost. A policeman stepped up along side of me and, touching his hat, said 'You'd 'a' won, sir, if you'd 'a' only kept on, sir. The other chap's fallen down'"—New York Sun

HAPPENS AT MONONGAHELA

A man by the name of Jim Evans was found dead at the lockup, Monongahela, this morning shortly after he had been arrested for disorderly conduct. He was 45 years of age and his home was in Hazelwood. The physicians give as the cause of his death, heart disease, although it is plain that if this is so, nature only beat out by a few hours, as a letter on the man told that he intended to commit suicide. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Harry Scurfield and this afternoon shipped to Pittsburg.

Sometime ago Mr. Evans and his wife parted, she living at Cokeburg ever since. It is stated that he has at different times tried to secure their little son which she had, but was unsuccessful. He had been in Monongahela a few days, drinking and carousing, and this morning was at the station when the M. and W. train from Cokeburg came in. His wife was said to be on the train and when [illegible] take the train to Pittsburg she was going to spend the day with her at once, and get the boy. She refused his request. There were some words, and to Chief of Police Chester arrested the man, and he did so. A little later he was found dead in the lockup.

A letter was found attached to the man's wrist by a gum band, and when it was read it was found that the man intended to commit suicide. It is stated that the wife was the cause of all his troubles and at the present time was living with a man by the name of Russel in Cokeburg.

YESTERDAY BUSY ONE IN COURT

Yesterday was the busiest day of the week in Judge McIlvaine's court. Surety of the peace cases were heard during the entire day and in addition there were pleas of guilty entered and sentences pronounced. The grand jury heard a large number of cases during the day, two or three being of considerable importance. There are a large number of cases yet to be placed before the grand jury and it will have to be present the greater part of next week.

A case that attracted considerable attention in court yesterday afternoon was that of the commonwealth against Charles Moffit, of Fredericktown, charged with surety of the peace. The private prosecutrix was his 16-year-old daughter, Edith Moffit. The case is one of several troubles that have arisen since the defendant and his wife were divorced. The mother and father of the prosecutrix have been before the court before to have ddifferences settled.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HERE IS BEST OF KIND IN COUNTRY

Company No. 1 of the Charleroi volunteer fire department was out last night for practice with the combination chemical and hose wagon, it being taken to McKean avenue between Seventh and Eight streets, where a bonfire was built and the wagon tested. The practice was held for the purpose of [illegible] in the use of the chemicals and assigning them to their different places. Next week companies No. 1 and 2 will go out and work in conjunction. The latter named company has charge of the hook and ladder wagon. On both of these wagons there are fifteen men placed.

Within a few days the local company will be in the finest of condition for the fighting of fires either here or elsewhere, should they be called out of town. They have interchangeable hose connections for the five nearest towns, Monongahela, Monessen, Donora, Belle Vernon and Fayette City and are able to render efficient service in case of a bad fire in any of these places. The stable on the first floor of the borough building, to which there has recently been put an annex, will soon be in condition for occupancy and the new harness for the horses for the chemical wagon will be hung as well as those for the Hook and ladder wagon.

Chief Fleming of the local company is well pleased over the interest that is being shown, and stated this morning that in a few days when everything is in shape, Charleroi will have the best volunteer company in the entire country, excepting none, and is of the opinion that it will surpass many of the paid companies in larger towns and cities. "We will be well organized, in a short time in a working way," he said, "and have a large membership consisting solely of good men, who are willing in case of fire to respond at a moments notice." He feels that Charleroi should be proud of her company and for his gratification and the firemen themselves we will say that she is.

CLOSE SALE OF STORE AT MONONGAHELA

A deal which has been pending for the Corrin and Corrin grocery store at Monongahela, was closed a few days ago, and on the 16th of this month, the new proprietor, John E. Knight of Fayette City, will take charge. He will continue the present location for a short time, and some time before the first of the year will move to the new Markell building, where he will continue the business.

Mr. James Corrin, who has been the active manager of the company since its organization, has no plans for the immediate future, and will take a long vacation.

Mr. Knight will move with his wife and two children to Monongahela and will occupy the A. D. Scot house on Coal street.

CELEBRATION OF VICTORY AT BELLEVERNON

Citizens Of That And Other Towns To Join Tonight In Extoling Candidates Who Were Successful In Three Counties, Hon. J. K. Tener Being Among Number.

PARADE WILL BE A MAIN FEATURE

Belle Vernon, Nov. 7.—A demonstration to celebrate the election of Taft, Tener, Hunt, Cooper and the entire Republican ticket in the three counties will be held at Belle Vernon tonight. The Republicans of Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon, Pricedale, Fairhope, Speers and Charleroi and the immediate vicinity will participate. A parade, with lots of red fire and all the other trimmings, will be the main feature.

Citizens generally will decorate and illuminate their homes and places of business, and nearly every man and boy hereabouts is expected to be in line. Four bands have been engaged, and there will be almost enough noise to be heard at Washington. In this the ever present small boy and his tin horn will have a prominent part.

Saturday night was chosen as the best time to celebrate the great victory because it will be possible for more men to be in line. Many are expected to come from the surrounding towns to help swell the crowd, and it promises to be the biggest time the old town has seen for a long time. All arrangements have not been completed, but the committee in charge will have everything ready in plenty of time.

Charles F. McKay will be chief marshall of the parade, to whom delegates should apply for a place in the line.

PLEAD GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ENTERING STORE.

Mike Miller and Mike Brody were arraigned before Judge J. A. McIlvaine at Washington, charged with felonious breaking and entry, in the store room of William McGregor, at Monongahela, on November 3. Miller was also charged with carrying concealed weapons. Both entered pleas of guilty and were committed to Huntingdon.

200 ALL-STEEL MINE CARS ARE ORDERED

An order for 200 all-steel mine cars, the first of the kind ever awarded, was given to the Standard Steel Car company of Pittsburg yesterday by the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company. The new mine cars will be built at the Butler plan and will be turned over to the coal company as soon as possible.

The awarding of this contract is the result of experiments which have been going on for the past year or so in various mines of the river coal company. These tests have proved that the all-steel mine car is in every way superior to the wooden car in general use and means that wooden cars will soon be a thing of the past. While a number of the larger coal companies have been experimenting with steel mine cars for the past several months, this is the first order for equipment of this kind for practical use.

Although more expensive than the wooden cars, the life of the all-steel car is more than double that of the wooden car and it is expected that by using the new equipment the production of the local mines will be greatly increased.

LENHART IS BADLY INJURED

Arm Caught In Machinery At Cracker Factory In Brownsville Yesterday And He May Lose Member---His Trial Was To Have Come Up Monday.

POSTPONEMENT NOW IN ORDER

Meeting with a fate similar to that suffered by his father 30 years ago, W. L. Lenhart, manager of the George W. Lenhart Cracker company, at Brownsville, will probably lose his left arm as the result of having it caught in the brakes of one of the machines used in mixing dough. The bone was badly crushed nearly to the shoulder. Dr. Swope, of Pittsburg, was rushed to this place last evening. It is not yet known whether the member will be amputated or not. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Mr. Lenhart was busy in the factory and while pushing some dough into one machine his hand was caught. No one was nearby to throw the belt off and his arm was drawn through the rolls before the factory hands could get the machiery stopped. Drs. Lilley and Richards were at once summoned and the injuries were dressed. The physicians feared that the arm would have to be amputated and Dr. Swope, the specialist, was sent for.

George W. Lenhart, the father of W. L. Lenhart, and the owner of the cracker mill, was injured over 30 years ago exactly in the same manner as his son was yesterday. The senior Lenhart suffered the loss of his right arm in the accident.

It is not known what effect this will have on the case of Mr. Lenhart in the matter of the People's Bank, of California, which was scheduled to come before the courts at Washington on Monday, November 16. It is likely that the case will be postponed however.

After Dr. Swope arrived last evening he stated that he had one chance in a thousand to save the arm. He added that he would not operate until today in any event. If the operation is necessary Mr. Lenhart will be removed to the West Penn hospital, Pittsburg. Dr. Swope stated that the arteries were entirely destroyed and if the arm is saved the circulation will be destroyed and the arm will be stiff and useless. The bones in the forearm were all crushed and broken into several pieces. The skin of the forearm was nearly all torn off.

Mr. Lenhart is in a serious condition today as the result of the injury.

OPENING BILL AT COYLE THEATRE

For the opening bill at the Coyle theatre next Tuesday night, November 10, Manager R. S. Coyle has secured a strong bill. This is "The Power of the Cross," which is its first season outside of the large cities, and it is supported by an exceptionally strong company. The play, unlike the title, is not a religious play, but a sensational romantic story of the present day. The situations, dialogue and climaxes are startling. The theme and story is most interesting and Manger R. S. Coyle having secured the production through the New York agents, is a guarantee, and can safely recommend to the theatre goers of Charleroi and vicinity.

OFFICIALS INSPECT WORK ON RIVER

Major Henry C. Newcomer, Colonel T. P. Roberts and others of the local office of the United States engineer, went up the Monongahela river as far as Pt. Marion yesterday, inspecting the work. The Monongahela is said to be in fine condition, the locks and dams that needed repairs having been given attention during the past summer.

Business on the Monongahela is quiet now because the mine depend for empties on returns from Southern ports and from local manufacturing industries and from neither of these sources have empties been returned recently.

Concerning Church Announcements.

The Mail desires the pastors of the different churches hereafter to send their notices for the Sunday services to this office not later than ten o'clock on the morning of publication. We depend entirely upon the ministers to furnish us with their announcements and if they do not they will not appear.

MONESSEN TURNERS TO BUILD NEW HOME

The Monessen Turn Verein society has broken ground for a new $28,000 home. The contract price is a trifle less, but the building when completed will cost about that amount. The building will be three stories in height and will occupy two lots each 22x100, at Donner avenue and Second street. It will front 44 feet on Donner avenue.

The George Hogg Co., of Braddock, has the contract, and Dean and Stubble, of Pittsburg, were the architects. The lower floor will be given over to club rooms and the second to the hall and gym. The building will be of a handsome dark brick. The building is to be done by April when it will be ceremoniously dedicated.

Free.

SEVERAL FIRES IN VICINITY

CONFLAGRATION NEAR ELDORA

Forest fires are now raging in this vicinity, perhaps the most destructive one being in Forward township, Allegheny county, opposite Monongahela. There is one burning near Eldora, on the property of The Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke company, which a number of workers are trying to extinguish. Last night there was a small fire across the river from here a short distance south of Webster, which the residents of Charleroi could see plainly and which attracted considerable attention. It was of little consequence however and did little damage although it is said that one of the coal mines was in danger for a time.

The fire across the river from Monongahela covers a considerable area, and for a time last night the mining village of Elkhorn was in danger. The fire started from sparks from a P. and L. E. engine and was first noticed at between four and five o'clock. The most damage done by it thus far is the burning of some hay on the farm of Mr. Pierce, entailing a loss of perhaps $300.

The fire near Eldora also covers a considerable area, but the damage will be slight. It started from a spark from an engine on the P. R. R. and has been raging since Thursday. The residents of the neighborhood have been fighting the fire, but as yet have not succeeded in controlling it. The progress of the flames must stop however when they reach the street car tracks.

Miss Laura Brown of Crest avenue left this morning for Cleveland, Ohio, where she will visit friends for several days.

SOCIAL EVENTS OF CHARLEROI

Miss Myrtle Majors entertained a number of friends at her home on Fallowfield avenue last night. The time was pleasantly spent with games and music, and all present had a delightful time. The hostess served a nice lunch.

A reception was given last evening in St. Mary's Episcopal church for the new pastor, Rev. L. W. Shey. Rev. Shey is the late assistant rector of the Trinity church, Pittsburg, and appeared here for the first time last Sunday. The members of the church were well pleased with his work from the first and arranged a reception for he and his wife last night. There were a large number present and the new rector and his wife were made to feel that they were indeed welcome to this place. The evening was pleasantly spent with the usual social diversions.

The Mercantile Tax.

The majority of the merchants of Charleroi evidently do not care much whether the mercantile tax, which it has been claimed is so burdensome in this state, be repealed or not. The other night, Thursday, the Merchants association here were to have held a meeting at which time the repeal of the tax was to be discussed by a Pittsburg man and one which is well up on the matter, yet there were not enough merchants present to make a quorum, and the meeting could not be called to order or the matter taken up. The repeal of the mercantile tax is now being eagerly sought for by the merchants of this state as it is claimed that it is very burdensome and an injustice. In many places there has been steps taken by the merchants who have organized themselves and constructed petitions to be presented at the next session of the legislature to have it removed. The petition will doubtless receive attention. The Pittsburg Leader is staunchly defending the merchants of the state in their fight against this alleged burdensome tax and give points why it should be removed. The following is a clipping from an article published in that paper a few days ago regarding the matter:

"An instance of the injustice of this mercantile tax lies in the fact that incorporated firms are compelled to pay a double tax. In addition to the mercantile tax, paid to provide jobs for politicians and "pork" for newspapers, they must also pay to the state a corporation tax, and all agree that this is unjust. Manufacturers are exempted from the mercantile tax if they sell only the goods manufactured on their own premises. But should they open an office for the sale of their product, they must also pay the mercantile tax. Representatives of business houses outside of the state can travel through Pennsylvania all the year, selling thousands of dollars' worth of goods, and pay no tax of any kind, while home merchants are burdened with tax for the privilege of selling similar goods.

"The mercantile appraisers throughout the state, and their friends, are beginnirg to fear the repeal movement, and are lining up the politicians and candidates for the legislature to defeat the repeal if possible. But this action has in a measure been forestalled by the Business men's association, of Pennsylvania, which has received pledges of support from 271 candidates of parties for the repealer, and is still working on others. But at the same time President Limeburner, of the Business association, says it behooves all merchants and business men interested to be active and keep after the candidates, so as to forestall any possible change of heart by reason of promises of support from the interested mercantile appraisers."

More than 400 organizations of business men throughout the state have indorsed the repeal movement, and arrangements are being made to have a representative of each present to urge the repeal before the legislature when it is brought up at the coming session. The Business association will open headquarters at Harrisburg January 1, which will be the headquarters also of local organizations.

Electric Sparks.

A touching appeal is issued by the Society for the Improvement of the Poor. There is urgent need for funds. Improvement of industrial conditions cannot obviate the necessity for much assistance during the coming winter nor can it relieve the distress of the immediate present.

Scrappin' Brothers?

The Monongahela Times and Monessen Independent are now having a great fuss because both of them want to claim the victory for their respective towns in an unimportant football contest at Monongahela recently. Both of these esteemed contemporaries have said things that are real mean of each other and they have got so far as to make the account of what the other said of them the previous day, the principal article. The quarrel seems to be a sort of continued-tomorrow affair. The best that can be said of the war is that the newspapers in question at least have something with which to fill up.

Immigrants Come Again.

What is considered a significant indication of returning prosperity was the arrival in Pittsburg yesterday of 250 immigrants from the east. HINTS FOR FARMERS

Weeds That Sheep Eat.

The Minnesota station gives the analyses of weeds which sheep eat readily and their protein contents compared with alfalfa, clover and timothy hay. It will be a surprise to many to see how high in protein these weeds are, and it suggests the reason sheep flourish on them, worthless as they are otherwise. Here are the analyses: Lambs' quarters, 25.06 protein, 54.64 carbohydrates, 1.96 fat; purslane, 26.13 protein, 53.70 carbohydrates, 2.9 fat; pigweed, 26.54 protein, 62.86 carbohydrates, 1.36 fat; lambsfield, 24.64 protein, 58.05 carbohydrates, 2.70 fat; catnip, 22.25 protein, 62.07 carbohydrates, 2.66 fat; goldenrod, 11.63 protein, 70.62 carbohydrates, 4.85 fat; mustard, 15.75 protein, 75.50 carbohydrates, 1.55 fat; quack grass, 11.27 protein, 79.12 carbohydrates, 1.96 fat; alfalfa, 20 protein, 40.64 carbohydrates, 2.46 fat; clover, 15.35 protein, 52.28 carbohydrates, 3.65 fat; timothy hay, 8.75 protein, 41.76 carbohydrates, 2.16 fat.

Soiling Crops.

A mixture of Kaffir corn and cowpeas at the Pennsylvania station produced the largest yield of green substance per acre, was relished by the cows and was entirely satisfactory from the standpoint of milk production. Alfalfa produced the largest yield of air dry substance per acre, and the cows seemed to hold up better in milk production when on alfalfa than on any other crops tested. Oats and peas proved satisfactory as a soiling crop. Rye produced the earliest soiling crop and gave a large yield of dry substance per acre, but under average conditions it ripens too quickly to be most satisfactory. The different forage crops tested seemed to have little, if any, effect upon the composition of the milk.—American Cultivator.

Plans For New Dairy Barns.

For the past two or three years the dairy division of the department of agriculture has been making an investigation of all the principal dairy barns in the United States and a study of the best methods of construction, with reference to convenience, cheapness in feeding and hauling of stock, sanitation, etc. The result is that the division has a large number of plans suitable for building barns and stables of varying costs, so that any one contemplating building a barn can obtain, by simply corresponding with the chief of the division, a set of building plans which will probably just about meet his needs.

Horse Sense.

Turning the work teams out to pasture at night is better than keeping them shut up in a close, poorly ventilated stable.

Every farmer must have horses. Why not have the best, then, and make a nice little profit on the side from the colts?

The time to sell the colt is when a good price is offered. It's good policy to have him ready to attract the good price, though.

Begin to handle the little fellow when he is very young if you would keep him from getting wild. Be judicious about it, though, at all times.

Hog Notes.

The hog with large bones is rapidly growing in favor.

Very frequently the feeding amounts to more than the pedigree.

Dipping hogs is no longer a tedious job. The modern tank simplifies it.

An average litter of seven or eight pigs will be quite nearly sure profit.

A good way to save high priced corn is to provide good alfalfa pasture.

The man who never has dipped his hogs is the man who objects to it most.

A good boar will do a great deal to put the hog end of your farming upon solid footing.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

A BRIER PIPE

Get One That Is Smooth Inside the Bowl, Says a Smoker.

A colleague who prides himself on the sweetness and color of his brier wood pipes and pretends to know a lot more about them than any ordinary smoker spent half an hour in a tobacco shop making an addition to his already large collection.

Some pipes he discarded because of the grain in the wood. There was too much stripe or too much birdseye, he remarked. When he found one which suited him he put it aside until he had gathered three or four which apparently were all right, and then came his final test to pick out the best of them all.

He held each with the bowl toward the light, then slowly rubbed his little finger inside. Two he discarded, then repeated the operation with the others until only one remained out of the discard. That one he bought.

"Want 'em smooth inside," he explained. "A brier pipe roughly finished inside the bowl isn't worth bothering with. I wouldn't take one for a gift; wouldn't take the trouble to try to break it in, for it will never be any good. It won't take up right, and it'll never be nice and sweet.

"I've got a theory that when the inside of the bowl is rough all the little ridges and points of [illegible] burn the first time you smoke it, and a burnt pipe is no good. That's why I always take a pipe that has a bowl as smooth on the inside as on the out.

"Then it doesn't clog, but takes up evenly and goes good in a little time. Maybe the theory is wrong, but it has worked out well in my own experience, and some of my friends who have tried it agree with me."—New York Sun.

One Industry of the Pesky Ant.

Out in Burma and the far east, where sandalwood is worth its weight in silver, the pestiferous ant is a valuable assistant to the loggers of that precious timber. The hard and fragrant heartwood alone has value, but as the tree grows this valuable heart is overlaid by a soft and worthless layer forming two-thirds of the trunk. When a tree is felled and cut into lengths the loggers let the timber lie. At once the ants begin work upon the soft wood, which is sappy and sweet enough to attract them. In a few weeks, less than a month in the case of the large ants, the ants deliver the heartwood free of all the worthless sapwood.

Explaining.

"Aha, Mose! What are you doing with those chickens?"

"Is dem yo' chickens, boss?"

"You got them out of my coop."

"What kinda chickens is dey, boss?"

"They are Rhode Island Reds. What are you doing with them?"

"Why, boss, I done bought some Rhode Island Reds I'm a man yestiddy, an' I come ovah to git some o' yo' ails chickens to see ef mine was lak yo' ails. Ah doesn't lak tu git cheated, boss."—Houston Post.

Then He Got His.

A young Lancashire lad joined the army and soon after his arrival at headquarters got into trouble. Accordingly he had to face his commanding officer next morning.

The usual preliminaries were gone through, when, contrary to orderly room etiquette, the recruit commenced to defend himself.

"Silence!" roared the adjutant.

"Thou shut up," said the prisoner. "I'm not speaking to thee. I'm talking to the old chap in the chair."—London Scraps.

In the course of a few years the body attains its full growth, but the heart may grow forever. It is a pity that so few hearts enjoy the privilege.—Albany (Tex.) News.

HUNTING WILD HORSES.

How Brumbies in New South Wales Are Trapped and Broken.

Hunting "brumbies," as the wild horses are called there, is a favorite sport in New South Wales. Districts like the Clarence and Stephens and Manning river watershed are still the home of numerous droves of brumbies, and hunting them is declared to be a very exhilarating pastime. The first step taken is to stake out a corral and make all secure except a narrow entrance, which can subsequently be gated. On either side of the entrance and projecting from it funnelwise a "booby fence" is prepared.

To the simple minded brumby it presumably looks like a stockade, and pieces of fluttering cotton make it look impregnable. When this is ready, the young bloods, well mounted, gallop out and round up the wild horses, driving them with shouts and much loud snapping of stock whips toward the mouth of the funnel.

In a group of brumbies there is always a leader, and when once the hunters have got the leader heading for the corral they are pretty certain of the rest of the drove. The fluttering cotton rags of the sham fence are sufficient to deter the brumbies from breaking through the flimsy barriers, and in less time than it takes to tell and the big gate shut on them.

Then they are left for four and twenty hours without food and water to reflect on the situation, and after that they can be broken in without much difficulty.—London Standard.

Why He Called.

"You advertised that you had found a pocketbook, I believe?" he asked the man who had come to the door in answer to his ring.

"I did."

"You say it contained a sum of money?"

"Yes."

"A very large sum of money, in fact?"

"Yes."

"And that the owner could have the same by naming the sum found and describing the pocketbook?"

"Yes. Go on."

"That is all I wished to ask."

"But you will have to give a description of the purse you lost before you can put in a claim."

"I lost no purse.'

"You didn't?"

"No, sir."

"Then why have you called?"

"Merely to see what a man looks like who will find a very large sum of money and then advertise the fact in the papers instead of hiding it down cellar. Good day, sir."—Judge's Library.

A Critic's Evasion.

It is risky to give one's honest opinion about a man's horse or dog, a house designed by himself or a picture which he values highly. He who gives the opinion stands on a slippery place, and should the judgment be unfavorable he will slide far from the man's esteem.

Fuseli, the eccentric artist and professor of the Royal academy, was invited by a nobleman to see a painting of which he was the proud owner. Fuseli went, taking a pupil with him. The painting was shown by the nobleman himself. The artist examined it and exclaimed, "Extraordinary!" The nobleman, greatly pleased at the ejaculation, lauded the picture to the skies, pointed out its beauties, and Fuseli cried: "Extraordinary! Extraordinary!"

On their way home the pupil said: "Mr. Fuseli, I don't think much of that picture. What did you mean by 'extraordinary?'"

"Extraordinarily bad," was the reply of the artist, who had not cared to offend a lord who might become a patron.

Nutrition

If you do not gain strength and energy from your food you should drink Charleroi Brewery Ale regularly—at mealtime.

Charleroi Brewery Ale is a pure "undoctored" and unsweetened malt product. All of its virtues come straight from the malted field-barley and selected Bohemian hops.

It does not digest food, but it healthfully tones the stomach, aiding digestion, and contains easily digested food properties of its own.

Good physicians will commend its moderate use. We guarantee Charleroi Brewery Ale to be of absolute purity.

INSPECTOR LOUTTIT HAS TO RIDE IN A WHEELBARROW

Monongahela, Pa., Nov. 7.—State Mine Inspector Henry Louttit, of the fifth district, hero of many mine disasters, was visibly agitated yesterday in the presence of 1,000 persons after being spilled three times from a wheelbarrow pushed by Mrs. Elizabeth Spence Coatsworth.

The crowd made him get back again each time and finish the ride. It all resulted from an election bet, which povided that the victor should be pushed over the principal streets to the music of a band. Mrs. Coatsworth was game.

School Will Open.

Brownsville, Nov. 7.—The South Brownsville public schools so far as the board can see, will open Monday, November 16, in the new building. The work of getting the place in urable condition is being pushed with all possible speed and the rooms are now beginning to take on a nice appearance.

Canonsburg, Nov. 7.—The funeral service of Miss Charlotte A. Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips of North Jefferson avenue, who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Guiser, of Coal Center, on Monday evening, were held in the First Presbyterian church, of which congregation Miss Phillips was a member, on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains were brought from Coal Center to Canonsburg on Wednesday; and on Wednesday evening and Thursday up until the hour of removing the body to the church there was an almost constant stream of callers at the Phillips home.

THE GRAMPUS GOURMET.

This Marine Monster's Prey Is the Bowhead Whale.

"Of all the gourmets on land or water," said the captain, "commend me to the grampus."

The ladies at the captain's table looked with inquiring smiles at the handsome sailor.

"The grampus," he went on, "is a kind of overgrown shark or a kind of undersized fighting whale. You can take your choice. At any rate, he is a terrible creature to meet with if you happen to be aquatic.

"He and his mate travel together. Sometimes they have a friend along—big, fine, strong chap, as such friends usually are. And their game is the bowhead whale.

"When they find a whale they go at him. They stick to him invariably. They punch and thump till he is as limp as a rope of seaweed with exhaustion. Then, by means of one horrible deed, they show their unexampled gluttony.

"They take hold of the whale's lower lip; they hang their weight on it until it drops open. Then in go their heads, disappearing inside that great red mouth, that warm, moist cavern of scarlet, and they eat in there the whale's tongue, a tender tidbit, very rich and delicate.

"The tongue consumed, they go on their way again, leaving the whale to die slowly."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Examine the Collar.

The horse collar which rubs up a lap of flesh at every stride of the animal will soon wear a gall on its neck. So will a very dirty collar in warm weather.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLING SUM OF MONEY

Canonsburg, Nov. 7.—Accused of embezzling funds of the Western Pennsylvania Humane society, by which organization he had been employed as an agent in Washington county, Frank D. Roberts of Washington was brought from that place to Canonsburg Friday afternoon and taken before Justice T. M. Reese to answer to the charge which had been brought against him. Robert was arrested at his home in Washington Monday evening by Constable J. J. Miller of Canonsburg, information having been made against the accused man before Justice T. M. Reese by James S. Bell of Pittsburg, superintendent of the humane society. When [illegible] nish bail and was lodged in jail to await a hearing before Justice Reese Friday.

Nubar Pasha and the Pipes.

Soon after the occupation of Cairo by the British troops the late Nubar Pasha took a prodigious fancy to the music of the Scotch Watch and had the idea of having a servant taught the use of the bagpipes. Nubar dispatched a French friend, who spoke English very well, to interview a piper on the subject.

Donald replied: "Weel, he micht learn or he micht no'. Bit, let me tell ye, it needs wind an' mickle strength tae fill the bags o' the pipes an' keep blawin'. See if yin o' thae Egyptian chaps took the job on he'd need tae be bandaged a' ow're like yin o' thae auld mummies, or maybe he'd burst himself."

This conversation was reported to Nubar, who took the piper's remarks seriously. So he gave up the idea of having a skirler attached to his household, as the use of the bagpipes was attended with the prospect of such danger to the performer.—Westminster Gazette.

Depth of Cyclones.

From the study of clouds an officer of the United States weather bureau concludes that ordinary cyclones which traverse our country from West to east are not more than two or three miles in depth, although their diameter is many hundreds of miles. In other words, their motion does not affect the upper regions of the atmosphere. In the case of hurricanes this authority finds that the depth is greater, amounting to as much as five or six miles. But higher currents blow directly across the cyclonic and anticyclonic areas which produce storms and fair weather at the surface of the earth.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Easy Money.

Theodore Hook was one of the Garrick club's most famous members. He generally arrived at the club late in the afternoon and "never went home till morning." He had been told by the doctors, he said, to avoid the night air. A member of the club in Hook's time predicted the advent of the millennium at the end of three years. "All right," cried Hook. "Give me a five pound note now, and I will repay you £50 at the millennium."

"British Unfairness."

One American who got back from the Olympic games recently was with Hayes, the Marathon winner, in a party of Americans the evening following the race. On the subject of "British unfairness" he tells a story Hayes told that night.

"I was just entering the stadium," said Hayes, "and I slowed to a walk, thinking it was all over and I had lost. A policeman stepped up alongside of me and, touching his hat, said: 'You'd better hurry on, sir. The other chap's fallen down.'"—New York Sun.
